

COMMITTED TO ADVANCING EQUITY THROUGHOUT THE TWIN CITIES REGION

ANNUALREPORT 2014

WITH YOUR SUPPORT IN 2014

“I value working with the Alliance because over the past years of working on the North Minneapolis Greenway, the staff has truly demonstrated the importance of and consistently works towards social equity, especially for marginalized communities and community members.”

-David Kang, Hana Media and Northside Greenway Council participant

At the Alliance, we are committed to advancing equity throughout the Twin Cities region. We apply a racial, economic, and environmental justice lens in our work because we see the interconnectedness between the outcomes that these issues produce. We believe that the disinvestment that communities of color experience as a result of racism cannot be separated from the lack of employment opportunities, inability to build wealth, inadequate transportation connections, climate change or lack of access to affordable housing and healthy food options. This is why we aim to work at the intersection of these issues, understanding that a holistic approach to equity will lead to a more vibrant region.

In our work, we are committed to bringing the voice of those most affected by injustice to the decision-making process. We value the wisdom and expertise of communities themselves, convinced that they already know the solutions to the problems that they face. We support the meaningful inclusion of communities of color in all aspects of regional equity work and regularly convene organizations of color with largely white organizations, government officials and electeds to talk about the ways in which we can ensure equity takes place in our region.

Together with our partners and member groups, we were able to make significant progress toward our goals in 2014. Here is what your support enabled us to do:

IMPROVE THE SOUTHWEST LRT PROJECT:

In the spring and summer of 2014, the Alliance convened a coalition to seek equitable development outcomes from the Southwest LRT project. We helped obtain commitments to create greater connectivity to all the stations in Minneapolis, long-term access to economic opportunity and improvements to the bus ridership experience in North Minneapolis.

CREATE AN INNOVATIVE PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT PLAN:

The Community Engagement Steering Committee, with Alliance staff support, worked with the Metropolitan Council to create a substantive Public Engagement Plan to be applied to all Met Council activities. The plan aims to ensure that community residents have a voice in planning our regional investments.

PLAN FOR COMMUNITIES OF OPPORTUNITY:

The Equity in Place coalition, convened by the Alliance and the Center for Urban and Regional Affairs, has secured a commitment from the Metropolitan Council to engage low-wealth communities of color to fashion blueprints that will ensure all Twin Cities communities offer the opportunity to thrive.

TIE EQUITY TO NEW TRANSPORTATION INVESTMENT:

A host of community groups worked together to influence our region's Transportation Advisory Board to ensure equity criteria are the basis for 10 to 20 percent of the evaluation of future transportation investments. This is a historic shift that will change the way tens of millions of dollars of transportation funds are invested each year.

SECURE RESOURCES TO BUILD NEW BUS SHELTERS AND INVEST IN COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT:

The Alliance urged the Met Council to pursue a federal grant that will help meet demands to add 150-200 shelters to the bus system and will allow us to work together to create a community engagement process to inform the agency's Service Improvement Plan.

INCREASE COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AROUND THE PROPOSED NORTH MINNEAPOLIS GREENWAY PROJECT:

Working together with the city of Minneapolis and 13 community groups, the Alliance was able to significantly increase the engagement on the North Minneapolis Greenway project by 450 percent. Of those that we engaged, 55 percent were people of color, 26 percent were renters, and 70 percent were North Minneapolis residents.

CONNECT ORGANIZERS TO TOOLS AND RESOURCES THAT WILL FURTHER THEIR RACIAL JUSTICE UNDERSTANDING:

In 2014, our Organizer Roundtables connected 342 organizers and other community leaders to each other and current campaign work in the racial equity field in the Twin Cities. Through our series on specific cultural communities organizing in their own communities, we were able to demonstrate the power and expertise that is already deeply embedded in communities of color across our region. We also provided research and communications tools to help show the connections between people, places and issues in the Twin Cities region.

DEVELOP A SCORECARD FOR EQUITABLE TRANSIT-ORIENTED DEVELOPMENT:

Leadership from the Community Engagement Steering Committee also created an Equitable Transit Oriented Development Scorecard, which will help communities and agencies evaluate developments for their equity impact. The Metropolitan Council/Metro Transit have included the Scorecard into their transit oriented development workplan.

"We support the Alliance because the work they're doing around racial and economic justice in our city aligns with our values."
